"HOKE" STICKS TO DAUGHTERY MEETS DEFEAT

Attorney Frank H. Dean has filed his declaration as a candidate for prosecuting attorney at the August primary. Mr. Dean comes from a family that is well known in the county. He is the second to announce for the prosecutorship. Probate Judge J. C. Marshall, after eight years on the bench, two terms as clerk of Court and two terms as deputy also wants to be prosecutor.

George B. Earley announces as a candidate for county commissioner. He comes from Cassarock township and has never held county office. The race today includes the following: J. H. Lackey, Ross township; R. S. Townsend, Cedarville township; W. B. Bryson, Xenia township; John A. North, Xenia city; Bert Deam, Cassarock township. There is a possibility that one or two more candidates may yet file by Friday midnight, the closing hour for entries.

Some weeks ago the Herald pointed out a political deal that had been made last winter at Springfield when the Seventh Congressional District leaders met. At that time a deal was made between L. T. Marshall, who was wanting to be State Senator, and the Harry Daugherty crowd in Fayette county, whereby the Daugherty committee was to endorse Marshall. The consideration the Daugherty interests received was that Marshall was to deliver Frank (Hoke) Smith, Xenia, who as District Delegate to the Republican National Convention, that he would vote for Daugherty or whoever the Daugherty interests wanted for National Committeeman from Ohio. Harry Daugherty has been doing some work for party control in Ohio for weeks, since President Coolidge forced him from the Cabinet.

The question of control came to a head Monday at Cleveland when all the delegates from Ohio gathered to select a committeeman. The Daugherty forces were backing Louis Bush, of Toledo, Senator Frank Willis, who is a "clean as a bound's tooth" lined up for Daugherty. Senator B. D. Fess, took the other end of the contest against Daugherty with the Wolfe-Brown forces. The Daugherty forces were defeated and Maurice Maschke of Cleveland, chosen National Committeeman for Ohio. A dispatch from Cleveland to the Springfield Sun says that "Hoke" voted for the Daugherty candidate, Brush, but the crowd received an unexpected spanking. Many of "Hoke's" Xenia friends have been claiming that he could not be tied up in a deal to line up for Daugherty but the result only bears out what the Herald had to say a few weeks ago. Of course it was never intended that the story of the deal would reach the public but it did, as embarrassing as it may be to Mr. Smith, who is supposed to be above such political connections.

The other day the Cincinnati Enquirer stated that it might be well to hold a public meeting about the Court House square to hear L. T. Marshall explain in detail just how he stood on the no-tobacco legislation proposed by the league of that name and sponsored by the W. C. T. U. Marshall is a part of the W. C. T. U. organization politically speaking and not so many weeks ago spoke before the "White-Ribbons." Of course he looks after the W. C. T. U. politics during the day time and at night or under cover consorts with the forces of iniquity. The Enquirer says he has tied himself up with the forces who are opposed to "summary" legislation. D. Pemberton, Columbus, lobbyist for the American Tobacco Co., makes no secret that Marshall is satisfactory to his interests. "D" has endeavored to line up friends in this county to support Marshall, as it was Cleveland, O.—Politics rule Cleveland today with the G. O. P. Elephant in the star role. With the Republican National Committee on the scene; delegates and convention onlookers arriving today, it is a certainty the town will be jammed when the Convention convenes next Tuesday, June 10.

"Broad and Butter" for Pemberton to have L. T. in the Ohio Senate. The problem is for the W. C. T. U. to settle as to who is to own Marshall. If he is elected, we want to bet our money on Pemberton's judgment. The good ladies are going to get as big a "broad" in Marshall as the Klan received when L. T. offered the endorsement of his committee to that organization to land Barnes as postmaster in Xenia. Some of the Klan have already admitted a "gold-brick" had been dangled before them.

There is no more money in the tobacco proposition than Miss Mary Ervin should not explain just how she could be converted to the K. K. K. when about one year ago she and her organization, the W. C. T. U., openly condemned the Klan as about the worst crowd that ever hit the county. Miss Ervin would do a real service and clear up a questionable situation by telling the voters today just what her attitude is towards the Klan. She might also explain just what was said at the conference when she visited the Klan leaders, seeking the support of that organization. It is not likely that a public denial will be made. If so these columns are open to all interested.

Here is a true story that will be read with much interest, especially by members of the American Legion. During the World War while the boys were "over there" L. T. Marshall, now a candidate for State Senator, was at home playing his trade of selling questionable stocks and raking in a good share of the easy money that could be found. The case we have in mind concerns the sale of stock in a blue sky concern to the wife of one who had volunteered and entered the service and was serving his country far away from home. The wife was influenced by Marshall to make an investment and without the advice of her husband. Time went on and it was not long until the crash came and the stock purchased by this wife was not worth more than a postage stamp. The value of this stock had been in question for months and could not be used as collateral in any bank, yet this unfortunate woman yielded to the influence of an unscrupulous stock peddler and lost all her investment. Such an act no doubt will commend Marshall to all the Legionnaires in the district. We imagine the Marshall followers giving three cheers over such an act and attempt justification for what was done.

STORM DOES MUCH DAMAGE IN COUNTY

While we have had an unusual rainfall the past month, there has been little property damage until last Thursday night when a high wind and a terrific electrical storm hit the county south of us.

In town we had a very heavy rain that swelled the streams beyond the banks. In town sewers failed to carry the water.

The wind did most damage in the W. J. Cherry neighborhood when a big oak was blown towards the house and damaged the porch. I. H. Cherry's barn was unroofed and much timber destroyed in that section.

Sabbath morning the south eastern part of the county was hit with a light cyclone, and many houses and buildings damaged. The home of Charles Lightner near Lambertown was partially demolished.

The telephone and telegraph companies suffered a great loss by the wind storm and many poles and lines in all sections of the county were down and will have to be rebuilt.

About the same time Springfield had a cloud-burst and Buck creek was out of its banks in a few minutes. A large number of homes in the bottoms were flooded and the property damage placed at thousands of dollars. The Clark County Commissioners estimate that it will take $100,000 to repair and replace bridges and roads washed out by the storm.

White House Hopes No. 5
